Annandale Public School
Parents & Citizens Association
Benefiting our children and their school

Becoming a member of the Annandale Public School Parents and Citizens Association

About the Annandale Public School Parents and Citizens Association

Annandale Public School Parents and Citizens Association's purpose is to benefit of our children and their school.

The P&C's efforts are focused on these main areas:

- Purchasing education & school equipment, resources and aids
- Improving our School's facilities and grounds
- Contributing to the educational processes within our School
- Providing the School uniforms to students
- Improving marketing and membership of the Association

How does the P&C run?

The P&C holds monthly meetings at the school. At these meetings, specific projects are identified and smaller groups take responsibility for these.

Who can join the P&C?

Parents of children attending Annandale Public School and residents who are interested in the welfare of the school and live within the school district are welcome to become members.

Will being a member take lots of time?

P&C members give as much time as they can. There are no expectations. The important thing is that you become involved in some way to improve your child's school's facilities and educational services.

Some members attend P&C Meetings, assist in fund-raising, help out at working bees, or assist at school events, such as "The Big Night Out".

By becoming a member of the P&C you will be eligible to stand for office, attend meetings and receive copies of the P&C meetings' minutes and other relevant correspondence.

Where to find more information?

Please look to the APS P&C web site, which has online documents and links to other relevant sites.

We look forward to welcoming you to the P&C.
